

The Modern Language Review

is the official quarterly journal of the Modern Humanities Research Association.

Two typescript copies of articles should be submitted to the appropriate section editor along with a copy either on 3½" disk or sent by e-mail. Authors should ensure that there is no discrepancy between the computer file and the printout. Articles should conform precisely to the conventions of the MHRA Style Guide, 2002 (ISBN 0-947623-62-0), obtainable from Maney Publishing, Hudson Road, Leeds LS9 7DL, price, including postage, £5.00 (overseas £6.00, US $12.00) payable in advance. Authors should provide an abstract of their articles with keywords highlighted. This abstract should not exceed 100 words. At the end of articles and reviews contributors should include, in this order, their affiliation or location; name as it is to be printed; name and postal address for correspondence; and e-mail address. Simple references should be incorporated into the text (see MHRA Style Guide, p. 39). Detailed guidance on the preparation of articles on disk can be obtained from the Editor on request. Double spacing should be used throughout, particularly in quotations and in footnotes, which should be in the same large size of type as the rest of the article. Articles do not normally exceed 8,000 words. Quotations and references should be carefully checked. The Modern Language Review regrets that it must charge contributors for the cost of corrections in proof which the Editor in his or her discretion thinks excessive. Contributors should keep a copy of their typescript. Typescripts not accepted for publication will normally be returned by surface mail.

It is a condition of publication in this journal that the authors assign copyright, including electronic copyright, to the MHRA. Inter alia, this allows the General Editor to deal efficiently and consistently with requests from third parties for permission to reproduce material. The journal is being published simultaneously in printed and electronic form from January 2001. Permission, without fee, for authors to use their own material in other publications, after a reasonable period of time has elapsed, is not normally withheld.

Articles and books for review should be sent to the Editor concerned:

(from the October 2003 issue onwards)

General and Comparative. Professor B. Richardson, Department of Italian, University of Leeds, Leeds LS2 9JT.

English and American. Dr N. Bradbury, Department of English Language and Literature, University of Reading, Whiteknights, PO Box 218, Reading RG6 6AA.

French. Professor R. Killick, Department of French, University of Leeds, Leeds LS2 9JT.

Italian. Dr M. Davie, Department of Italian, School of Modern Languages, Queen's Building, University of Exeter, Exeter EX4 4QH.

Hispanic. Dr D. J. George, Department of Hispanic Studies, University of Wales Swansea, Swansea SA2 8PP.

German, Dutch, and Scandinavian. Professor R. Robertson, St John's College, Oxford OX1 3JP.

Slavonic and Eastern European. Dr B. Beumers, Department of Russian Studies, University of Bristol, 17 Woodland Road, Bristol BS8 1TE.

Contributors will receive twenty copies of articles and ten of reviews free. Additional copies of articles, if desired, may be had at cost price and should be ordered when the first proof is returned.

Copies of the Modern Language Review may be ordered from Subscriptions Department, Maney Publishing, Hudson Road, Leeds LS9 7DL, UK