PREFACE

This book is a revised version of a Ph.D. dissertation submitted to the University of Cambridge in March 1996.

My greatest academic debt is to Paul Julian Smith, my dissertation supervisor at Cambridge, for his generous support and advice of lasting value. I would also like to thank Chris Perriam and Arthur Terry, the dissertation examiners, for their encouraging and detailed comments at the viva and subsequently; Philip Silver, who read and commented on an early draft of Chapter 1; the staff at the Cambridge University Library and at the Flinders University of South Australia Library; and Salvador Jiménez-Fajardo, Inés Blanca, and Jonathan Thacker for their help in tracing bibliographical material. I am much obliged to Dr Ángel María Yanguas Cernuda for granting permission to quote extensively from Cernuda's poetry.

I am grateful to the Flinders University of South Australia for helping me make progress with this book through the award of Time Release funds in the first half of 1999 and through financial assistance from the University Research Budget.

I also wish to thank Nena Bierbaum for proof-reading the final version of the manuscript; Pauline Ackland for formatting the manuscript; and, finally, Catherine Davies for her detailed comments and support as Hispanic editor of the Texts and Dissertations Series. Any errors are entirely my own.

An earlier version of part of Chapter 4 appeared as 'Displacing the Father: Male Homosexual Desire and Identity in Cernuda's Later Love Poetry', in Antípodas: Journal of Hispanic and Galician Studies of Australia and New Zealand, 11–12 (1999–2000), 91–100. An earlier version of the first section of Chapter 2 is forthcoming in Revista hispánica moderna, 53 (December 2000). I am grateful for permission to reprint these sections here.
